

You Won't Believe What Middle School Students Are Capable of Writing...

Intrigued? Mellon Writing Lab Needs YOU!

Please join the dozens of parents, grandparents, and community members who volunteer to confer with students on their writing.

Top 3 Writing Lab Volunteer Myths DEBUNKED!

I'm not a grammar expert or writer! A conference is NOT about correcting grammar and spelling. It's more about helping students clarify, develop, and organize their ideas.

I don't know anything about middle school! Volunteering in the lab allows you to peek inside the middle school day. You also have a chance to experience our unique and successful writing program first-hand.

I have a chaotic schedule! You can select times and dates that work for you. Even the busiest person can usually fit in a few periods a month. You do not need to volunteer in your child's class, in fact, many do not.

Start Changing Lives TODAY!

Join us for a special joint Mellon/Jefferson training session on Wednesday, September 20th, 9:30-11:00 AM
Mellon Middle School Library (note location)

For more information, contact:

Eve Kollar, Writing Clinician

412.344.2122

ekollar@mtlsd.net

blog.mtlsd.org/MMSLab

Mary Roman, Volunteer Coordinator

mmswritinglab@gmail.com

724.612.0445